SEN SUPPORT GUIDANCE

Provision Expected at SEN Support (PEaSS)

SEPTEMBER 2019

Provision Expected at SEN Support

Provision Expected at SEN Support

THIS GUIDANCE IS THE PROVISION THE LOCAL AUTHORITY EXPECTS TO BE MADE AVAILABLE BY MAINSTREAM SCHOOLS, ACADEMIES, FREE SCHOOLS, EARLY YEARS AND POST-16 PROVIDERS

In Norfolk, we are committed to ensuring that our children and young people with Special Educational Needs and/or Disabilities (SEND) are well supported, have their needs met and achieve their potential.

We want children, young people with SEND and their families to have positive experiences at school and to feel well supported through access to the right support, in the right place and at the right time. Wherever children and young people live in the County, we want them to have their additional learning needs met. We know that for most children they are best served by attending their local school with other children from their local community. To achieve this for the majority of children and young people in our county all schools must have a Core Offer that meets the needs of all children, including those with SEN and/or D.

In keeping with our statutory duty this guidance has been written to set out the core provision that we, as a Local Authority, expect to be made available for all children and young people with SEND. It has been developed with a range of key professionals and experts in specific areas and we hope that it provides support and advice in a clear and accessible way.

Provision Expected at SEN Support

Introduction

The 'Provision Expected at SEN (Special Educational Needs) Support' (PEaSS) Document sets out the provision that Norfolk County Council expects to be made available to support children and young people identified as needing SEN Support. This offer should be available in all mainstream schools in Norfolk as part of the core offer, including Academies and Free Schools, Early Years Settings and Post-16 Educational providers. In this document the term 'settings' will be used to refer to all the aforementioned educational establishments unless stated otherwise. This guidance should also be used to inform SEN Information Reports.

All settings must have due regard for:

- Children and Families Act 2014;
- Special Educational Needs and Disability Code of Practice: 0 to 25 Years (SENDCoP);
- Equality Act 2010.

'High quality teaching that is differentiated and personalised will meet the individual needs of the majority of children and young people. Some children and young people need educational provision that is additional to or different from this. This is special educational provision under Section 21 of the Children and Families Act 2014. Schools and colleges must use their best endeavours to ensure that such provision is made for those who need it. Special educational provision is underpinned by high quality teaching and is compromised by anything less.' (Special Educational Needs and Disability Code of Practice: 0-25 years (SENDCoP), 2015, page 25.)

The legislation and statutory guidance set out above make it clear that children and young people with SEND have a right to expect their needs to be met and not to be disadvantaged.

Norfolk County Council expects all settings to:

- Comply with SEND Legislation and Statutory Guidance;
- Change policy and practice to reflect the SEND reforms and therefore use their best endeavours to provide and secure an inclusive education for all children and young people with SEND;
- Anticipate the reasonable adjustments needed to enable transitioning children and young people with disabilities to access an appropriate curriculum and continue to make reasonable adjustments for the children and young people with disabilities who are on roll so that they are included and able to access an appropriate curriculum.

SEN Support

'A pupil has SEN where their learning difficulty or disability calls for special educational provision, namely provision different from or additional to that normally available to pupils of the same age. Making higher quality teaching normally available to the whole class is likely to mean that fewer pupils will require such support. Such improvements in whole-class provision tend to be more cost effective and sustainable.' (SEND COP, 2015, pp 94-95.)

Norfolk Data January 2019:

There were
114,765 children
and young people in Norfolk
schools.

97,395 children
and young people's needs were being met through the Universal offer.

14,121 children
and young people were having their needs met at
SEN Support
level (12.5%).

17,370 children
and young people
were identified with SEND

Norfolk County Council expects settings to be able to identify children and young people with emerging SEND at an early stage. Settings should engage appropriate professionals to enable accurate assessments of need and/or barriers to learning. It is essential that settings put effective special educational provision in place. It is particularly important that there is no delay in making any necessary special educational provision and settings must work in partnership with parents/carers to establish the support and early intervention that the child or young person needs to access provision and make progress.

Parents/carers must be formally informed that special educational provision is being made. The child or young person and their parents/carers voices must be listened to and be instrumental in the development of SEN Support to ensure that their aspirations, desired outcomes and views are taken into account. Co-production with the child or young person and their parents/carers is an essential element of SEN Support. Effective collaboration between families and settings is a must.

All children and young people should expect to receive good quality and differentiated teaching. This is the first step in responding to children and young people who have or may have special educational needs. Additional intervention and support cannot compensate for a lack of good quality teaching.

In deciding whether to make special educational provision through SEN Support, a teacher and SENCO should consider all the information gathered from within the setting about the child or young person's progress. This should include high quality and accurate formative and summative assessment, using effective tools and early assessment materials. To support assessment, settings should have access to a range of diagnostic tests, observational checklists and dynamic forms of assessment which could involve: observing and recording responses in different environments; identifying strengths and weaknesses; identifying learning rates and learning styles.

This will help determine the support that is needed and whether it can be provided by adapting the settings core offer or whether something different or additional is required. This is the start of a graduated approach to SEN Support and if a setting makes special educational provision for a child and young person, they should inform their parents/carers.

The Graduated Approach: Assess, Plan, Do, Review - SENDCoP, 2015, pp100-102.

Settings should adopt a graduated approach with four stages of action: assess, plan, do and review to ensure that a child or young person's needs are fully understood.

This is called the graduated approach/response because it may take several cycles of intervention and different strategies being tried, before it is possible to identify the strategies that work.

A setting should have arrangements in place to access more specialist assessments and provision from external agencies or professionals through its core offer. This should be clearly and accessibly set out in the setting's SEN information report, which must be reviewed and updated annually and published on its website (NB Early Years settings are not required to publish an SEN Information Report).

It is particularly important in the early years that there is no delay in making any necessary special educational provision. Delay at this stage can give rise to learning difficulty and subsequently to loss of self-esteem, frustration in learning and to behaviour difficulties. Early action to address identified needs is critical to the future progress and improved outcomes that are essential in helping the child to prepare for adult life.' (SENDCoP 2015.)

Equipment and SEND Training

Norfolk County Council expects:

- All settings to provide necessary low cost, non-customised equipment for children and young people with SEND (e.g. PC, laptop, tablet);
- All settings to provide appropriate SEND training for their staff. Settings are expected to understand the needs of their children and young people and to identify how best to ensure that their staff are equipped to understand and meet their needs. For more information, see Educator Solutions which can be accessed at <http://s4s.norfolk.gov.uk>

It is recognised however, that some specialist customised ICT (Information, Communication Technology) equipment and software may need to be provided centrally to ensure that children and young people with high or complex needs have access to the curriculum. Norfolk County Council provides more specialist equipment and software through Access Through Technology (ATT) and the Virtual School Sensory Support.

Quality First Teaching (QFT)

'Teachers have a unique role to play in building the strengths and capacities of their pupils. All pupils need to feel accepted and valued in their schools, secure in the knowledge that teachers will not give up on them' (Peter Wilson, 2004)

Norfolk County Council expects all settings to provide QFT as part of their Core Offer. In Norfolk QFT incorporates:

An ethos and learning environment that:

- enables the voice of the child or young person (CYP) to influence decisions;
- works with parents/carers through regular contact/liaison regarding their child's needs, triggers, anxieties;
- works with parents to identify appropriate strategies to support the needs of their CYP;
- does not discriminate (directly or indirectly) against learners with SEN and/or D including protected characteristics;
- makes reasonable adjustments and/or adaptations to ensure access to the physical environment, curriculum and information e.g. timetabling considerations, seating arrangements, visual timetables, one-page profiles, ramps, handrails, signage, loops/soundfields system, a good acoustic environment, appropriate lighting, multi-sensory approach, repetition of instructions, uncluttered environments;
- promotes positive communication and interactions;
- enables a flexible approach to learning e.g. teach to topics of interests, use ICT to engage;
- enables learners to be supported through appropriate equipment;
- maximises the use of a range of differentiated learning resources, techniques, strategies and equipment e.g. visual supports, ICT, sensory circuits;
- promotes inclusion through planning for and risk assessing to enable full participation across the curriculum of all learners
- encourages independence and promotes social inclusion;
- prioritises personal care, self-help, independence and dignity;
- complies with the accessibility audit and plan.

Provision Expected at SEN Support

Curriculum, teaching and learning that:

- follows the graduated approach of Assess-Plan-Do-Review involving CYP and parents;
- identifies when there is barrier to learning;
- uses assessments to inform planning including summative and formative assessments;
- provides regular precise feedback to the CYP and appropriate target setting including the use of small steps;
- regularly monitors and tracks progress, including in the moment monitoring and interventions;
- regularly reports to parent/carers on the progress of their CYP;
- plans for additional support;
- incorporates strategies for addressing and developing, communication, attention and listening skills, vocabulary, language comprehension and language production, auditory processing skills, positive behaviours and sensory processing needs
- incorporates adapted resources e.g. large print, writing materials, PE equipment, cutlery, covered overlays, assistive technology, laptop, tablet;
- offers broad and balanced learning experiences/opportunities that are differentiated to accommodate the needs of different learners;
- provides a range of communication contexts;
- uses a range of questioning appropriately, giving the CYP time to respond;
- makes effective use of IT resources e.g. adjustments to computer settings, mouse, background contrast/colour;
- uses ICT such as word processing where CYP cannot demonstrate cognitive ability through hand written work;
- transitions are comprehensive with information shared between settings to ensure that CYP progress through education with their needs well-understood and met.

Staff development that:

- provides appropriate Continued Professional Development (CPD) for teachers and Early Years providers on SEN and/or D to include regular up-dates about developments and latest research in SEND e.g. Education Endowment Foundation, Sutton Trust, DfE publications.

Provision Expected at SEN Support

Social, Emotional and Mental Health (SEMH) Specific QFT

Settings should implement a whole setting approach to emotional health and well-being.

Leadership and management that:

- supports and champions efforts to promote emotional health and wellbeing;
- has a committed senior management team that sets a culture within the setting that values all pupils; allows them to feel a sense of belonging; and makes it possible to talk about problems in a non-stigmatising way;
- has a lead professional for mental health;
- works with parents/carers through regular contact/liaison regarding their child's anxieties, needs and triggers.

An ethos and environment that:

- promotes respect and values diversity;
- sets high expectations of attainment for all pupils with consistently applied support;
- promotes the health and wellbeing of all pupils in the school, identifying priorities and a clear process of planning, doing and reviewing to achieve the desired outcomes;
- uses various resources available to help them know about the well-being of pupils in their setting e.g. <https://www.annafreud.org/what-we-do/schools-in-mind/resources-for-schools/headstart-resources/>;
- plays a role in supporting CYP to be resilient and mentally healthy.
- develops a supportive setting and classroom climate and ethos which builds a sense of connectedness, focus and purpose, the acceptance of emotion, respect, warmth, relationships and communication and the celebration of difference.

Provision Expected at SEN Support

Curriculum, teaching and learning that:

- promotes resilience and supports social and emotional learning, including positive behaviour, social development and self-esteem;
- explicitly teaches social and emotional skills, attitudes and values, using well-trained and enthusiastic teachers and positive, experiential and interactive methods (and integrate learning into mainstream processes of school life);
- teaches children of all ages about mental health and emotional well-being.
 - Resources to support mental health: www.norfolk.gov.uk/mentalhealthresources
 - Anna Freud Schools in Mind: <https://www.annafreud.org/what-we-do/schools-in-mind/>
 - The PSHE Association: <https://www.pshe-association.org.uk/>
 - MindEd: <https://www.minded.org.uk/> a free online training tool, provides information and advice for staff on children and young people's mental health and can help to sign post staff to targeted resources when mental health problems have been identified.

Enabling student voice to influence decisions that:

- ensure young people's opinions and wishes are taken in to account and that they are kept fully informed, so they can participate in decisions taken about them.

Staff development to support their own well-being and that of students:

- teacher wellbeing is relevant for whole setting wellbeing.
- all staff should feel confident in promoting emotional well-being and supporting children with mental health difficulties.

Provision Expected at SEN Support

Targeted support and appropriate referral:

- settings should have clear systems and processes in place to help staff to identify children and young people with possible mental health problems; providing routes to escalate issues with clear referral and accountability systems;
- settings should work closely with other professionals to have a range of support services that can be put in place depending on the identified needs (both within and beyond setting). These should be set out clearly in the setting's published SEND policy;
- Training to become a Mental Health Champion in your school
Free two-day foundation training allowing access to a range of further training, resources and advice. Email linkwork-point1@ormistonfamilies.org.uk

Sensory and/or Physical Needs Specific QFT

Children and young people with Sensory and/or Physical needs may be making progress, however, there is a risk that they may begin to fall behind.

Hearing Impairment

Hearing Impairment needs may include: temporary conductive hearing loss e.g. glue ear, unilateral loss, mild or moderate loss.

QFT Provision for CYP with Hearing Impairment:

- arrangements in place for regular (daily where required) monitoring and checking of specialist equipment e.g. hearing aids and radio aids, by setting staff;
- Deaf Awareness training for all staff;
- promotion of independence and social inclusion;
- assessment, advice and recommendations from Virtual School for Sensory Support (VSSS);
- differentiated learning opportunities and reasonable adjustments are made to create a good acoustic environment and ensure access. For example:
 - Seating arrangements;
 - Appropriate lighting (e.g. to aid lip-reading);
 - Reduction of background noise;
 - Repetition of instructions;
 - Multi-sensory approach;
 - Additional support during speaking and listening activities;
 - New vocabulary shared with parents;
 - Home-school book;
 - Loop systems.

Use of specialist materials e.g. National Deaf Children's Society (NDCS) Phonics Guidance; National Sensory Impairment Partnership (NatSIP) – special exam arrangements.

Provision Expected at SEN Support

Visual Impairment

Visual Impairment needs may include: recognisable ophthalmological conditions which may impact on learning

QFT Provision for CYP with Visual Impairment:

- resources in place to support this inclusive learning;
- ensure that CYP do use glasses to correct vision if required;
- understanding of the impact of eye conditions on learning and the needs related to identified VI, including the complexities inherent in learning despite the “single” diagnosis;
- use information and resources available to assist with increased awareness of implications of VI on learning
- anticipate the needs of the local community of VI;
- consistent response to Children and Young People with an eye condition e.g. knowledge of VSSS;
- understands the VSSS referral process;
- identify when “crisis” interventions are required from VSSS;
- works with VSSS (and other agencies) to understand the needs around transition into and out of setting and support this process.

Resources may include RNIB (e.g. eye condition leaflets), VIEW (e.g. teaching and learning strategies), NatSIP (e.g. accessibility guidance for assessment)

Multi-Sensory Impairment (MSI)

When a CYP has an identified Multi-Sensory Impairment (MSI) there must be a recognition that it is a unique disability which prevents the compensation usually available for the single sensory impaired through the other distance sense. This can have a devastating impact on access to communication, mobility and information.

Physical Needs

QFT Provision for CYP with Physical Needs:

- with adaptations and reasonable adjustments to the environment children and young people can be independent.

Descriptors of Areas of Need and Provision

SEND practice should be varied according to the age and individual needs of each child or young person. The following good practice is intended to be guidance for all educational settings.

Communication and Interaction:

Speech, Language and Communication Needs

‘Children and young people with speech, language and communication needs (SLCN) have difficulty in communicating with others. This may be because they have difficulty saying what they want to, understanding what is being said to them or they do not understand or use social rules of communication. The profile for every child with SLCN is different and their needs may change over time. They may have difficulty with one, some or all of the different aspects of speech, language or social communication at different times of their lives.’ (SEND COP, 2015, p.97.)

Need Children and young people may have one or more of these learning profiles and may experience one of more of these difficulties:	Provision expected to be available Settings should consider provision like that identified below:
Attention and Listening: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Difficulty paying attention during a shared activity, to an activity for an age appropriate length of time and listening to instructions whilst busy doing something else • Easily distracted and tends to prefer activities of their own choosing • Finds tasks with spoken instructions harder to complete than tasks where listening is not required Understanding:	Promoting positive communication environments is the responsibility of all members of the staff in the setting. In addition to good Quality First Teaching some of the following may be required: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Ensure parents are fully aware of what is being done to support their child/young person and are able to support interventions • Daily personalised/small group learning to target identified areas of need and consider pre-teaching of words needed in lessons • Use a recommended screening tool such as Speech Link or WellComn to inform and plan next steps and/or provision. Social, Emotional, Mental Health

‘Children and young people may experience a wide range of social and emotional difficulties which manifest themselves in many ways. These may include becoming withdrawn or isolated, as well as displaying challenging, disruptive or disturbing behaviour. These behaviours may reflect underlying mental health difficulties such as anxiety or depression, self-harming, substance misuse, eating disorders or physical symptoms that are medically unexplained. Other children and young people may have disorders such as attention deficit disorder, attention deficit hyperactive disorder or attachment disorder.

Schools and colleges should have clear processes to support children and young people, including how they will manage the effect of any disruptive behaviour so it does not adversely affect other pupils. The Department for Education publishes guidance on managing pupils’ mental health and behaviour difficulties in schools...’ (SENDCoP, 2015, 6.32 p.98)

The responsibility for CYP with SEMH lies within SEND, overseen by the SENDCo; this should be made clear in a setting’s SEND Information Report (SIR). It is, however, acknowledged that this is managed in different ways in different settings.

The SENDCo will communicate and liaise with parents, carers and CYP alongside leaders within the setting and external professionals where appropriate.

It is important to consider how a CYP might present at home and in school.	Settings should consider provision similar to that identified below:
Needs may present in a variety of ways including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Low self-esteem in some areas which requires support in order to raise confidence and self-belief • Displays behaviours that interfere with own learning and with the learning of others • Withdrawn and isolated – limited communication, difficulties communicating feelings • Poor concentration • Engages in attention-seeking behaviour and regularly seeks approval from adults and peers • Poor organisational skills 	Promoting good social, emotional and mental health is the responsibility of all members of setting staff and community. In addition to good quality first teaching, the following may be required: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • All staff should have an awareness of the early signs of mental health problems (Mood; Actions; Social; Keep Talking: www.actionforchildren.org.uk) and what to do if they think they have identified a developing problem • Be an access point for early support for children with emerging problems • Identify children with mental health problems through the effective use of data and an effective pastoral system

Physical and/or Sensory Needs

‘Some children and young people require special educational provision because they have a disability which prevents or hinders them from making use of the educational facilities generally provided. These difficulties can be age related and may fluctuate over time. Many children and young people with vision impairment (VI), hearing impairment (HI) or a multi-sensory impairment (MSI) will require specialist support and/or equipment to access their learning, or habilitation [e.g. mobility and independent living skills] support. Children and young people with an MSI have a combination of vision and hearing difficulties. Information on how to provide services for deafblind children and young people is available through the Social Care for Deafblind Children and Adults guidance published by the Department of Health.’ (SEND COP, 2015, p.98.)

Multi-Sensory Impairment (MSI)

VSSS uses the NatSIP sensory classification from the NatSIP Eligibility Framework. For MSI this consists of an element of vision loss and an element of hearing loss. The MSI classification will be given for the highest of the two sensory classifications (i.e. a mild hearing loss and a severe vision loss gives a severe Multi-Sensory Impairment.)

There must be a recognition that Deaf blindness/MSI is a unique disability which prevents the compensation usually available for the single sensory impaired through the other distance sense. This can have a devastating impact on access to communication, mobility and information.

The majority of CYP with MSI will either be on the assessment pathway or have an EHCP in place.

Board's (including Governors and Trustees) Responsibilities

All boards have legal duties under the Children and Families Act 2014 and must have regard to the SEND Code of Practice: 0 to 25 years statutory guidance. Academies must also meet these requirements by virtue of their funding agreement.

Boards are also under a duty in the Equality Act 2010 'to take such steps as it is reasonable to have to take to avoid the substantial disadvantage' to a disabled person. The reasonable adjustment duty includes three key requirements to make sure that disabled people are not at a substantial disadvantage:

- To make adjustments to any provision, criterion or practice;
- To make alterations to physical features; and
- To provide auxiliary aids and services.

In practice, the functions these duties require of the board can be delegated to a committee, an individual or to the executive leader; although the responsibility is still with the board itself to ensure that the functions are carried out. It should decide, with the executive leader, the school's policy and approach to meeting children and young people's SEND requirements, including those with and without an Education, Health and Care (EHC) plans.

Boards must:

- co-operate with the Local Authority (LA) in reviewing the provision that is available locally and developing the local offer; <https://www.norfolk.gov.uk/children-and-families/send-local-offer>
- use their best endeavours to make sure that a child with SEND gets the support they need – this means doing everything they can to meet children and young people's SEND;
- ensure that children and young people with SEND engage in the activities of the school alongside pupils who do not have SEND;
- inform parents when they are making special educational provision for a child;
- ensure that arrangements are in place in schools to support pupils at school with medical conditions;
- provide access to a broad and balanced curriculum;
- ensure that pupils from Year 8 until Year 13 are provided with independent careers advice;
- have a clear approach to identifying and responding to SEND;
- provide an annual report for parents on their child's progress;

Provision Expected at SEN Support

Board's (including Governors and Trustees) Responsibilities continued...

- record accurately and keep up-to-date the provision made for pupils with SEND;
- publish information on their websites about the implementation of the board's policy for pupils with SEND, the School SEN Information Report
- publish information about the arrangements for the admission of disabled children, the steps taken to prevent disabled children being treated less favourably than others, the facilities provided to assist access of disabled children, and their accessibility plans;
- ensure that there is a qualified teacher designated as special educational needs co-ordinator (SENCO) for the school.
- determine their approach to using their resources to support the progress of pupils with SEND.

In addition:

- There should be an individual on the board or a committee with specific oversight of the school's arrangements for SEND. School leaders should review regularly how expertise and resources used to address SEND can be used to build the quality of whole-school provision as part of their approach to school improvement.
- When considering an appeal from a parent or young person, the First-tier Tribunal (Special Educational Needs and Disability) must have regard to the SEND Code of Practice 2015. The Tribunal will expect LAs, early education settings, schools and colleges to be able to explain any departure* from the Code, where it is relevant to the case it is considering.

The board should reassure itself that the key responsibilities of the SENCO are drawn up and monitor the effectiveness of the way the responsibilities are carried out against a list of illustrative activities, as described in the SEND Code of Practice: 0 to 25 years (6.84-6.94). The board should also reassure itself that the SENCO has sufficient time and resources to carry out their role effectively.

(Governance Handbook, January 2017)

(Nasen; The SEND Reforms: who should do what?)

*N.B. departure from the SENDCoP must be in the best interests of the child or young person and not the setting.

Headteacher's Responsibilities

Excellent Headteachers including Executive Leaders, Managers and Principals are expected to:

- Hold and articulate clear values and moral purpose, focused on providing a world-class education for the pupils they serve;
- Demonstrate optimistic personal behaviour, positive relationships and attitudes towards their pupils and staff, and towards parents, governors and members of the local community;
- Lead by example - with integrity, creativity, resilience, and clarity - drawing on their own scholarship, expertise and skills, and that of those around them;
- Sustain wide, current knowledge and understanding of education and school systems locally, nationally and globally, and pursue continuous professional development;
- Work with political and financial astuteness, within a clear set of principles centred on the school's vision, ably translating local and national policy into the school's context;
- Communicate compellingly the school's vision and drive the strategic leadership, empowering all pupils and staff to excel.
- Demand ambitious standards for all pupils, overcoming disadvantage and advancing equality, instilling a strong sense of accountability in staff for the impact of their work on pupils' outcomes;
- Secure excellent teaching through an analytical understanding of how pupils learn and of the core features of successful classroom practice and curriculum design, leading to rich curriculum opportunities and pupils' well-being;
- Establish an educational culture of 'open classrooms' as a basis for sharing best practice within and between schools, drawing on and conducting relevant research and robust data analysis;
- Create an ethos within which all staff are motivated and supported to develop their own skills and subject knowledge, and to support each other;
- Identify emerging talents, coaching current and aspiring leaders in a climate where excellence is the standard, leading to clear succession planning;
- Hold all staff to account for their professional conduct and practice;
- Ensure that the school's systems, organisation and processes are well considered, efficient and fit for purpose, upholding the principles of transparency, integrity and probity.

- Provide a safe, calm and well-ordered environment for all pupils and staff, focused on safeguarding pupils and developing their exemplary behaviour in school and in the wider society;
- Establish rigorous, fair and transparent systems and measures for managing the performance of all staff, addressing any under-performance, supporting staff to improve and valuing excellent practice;
- Welcome strong governance and actively support the governing board to understand its role and deliver its functions effectively – in particular its functions to set school strategy and hold the headteacher to account for pupil, staff and financial performance;
- Exercise strategic, curriculum-led financial planning to ensure the equitable deployment of budgets and resources, in the best interests of pupils' achievements and the school's sustainability;
- Distribute leadership throughout the organisation, forging teams of colleagues who have distinct roles and responsibilities and hold each other to account for their decision making;
- Create outward-facing schools which work with other schools and organisations - in a climate of mutual challenge - to champion best practice and secure excellent achievements for all pupils;
- Develop effective relationships with fellow professionals and colleagues in other public services to improve academic and social outcomes for all pupils;
- Challenge educational orthodoxies in the best interests of achieving excellence, harnessing the findings of well evidenced research to frame self-regulating and self-improving schools;
- Shape the current and future quality of the teaching profession through high quality training and sustained professional development for all staff;
- Model entrepreneurial and innovative approaches to school improvement, leadership and governance, confident of the vital contribution of internal and external accountability;
- Inspire and influence others - within and beyond schools - to believe in the fundamental importance of education in young people's lives and to promote the value of education.

Special Educational Needs Co-ordinator's (SENCo) Responsibilities

The expectation is that SENCo's have a thorough knowledge and understanding of the Special Educational Needs and Disabilities Code of Practice (SENDCoP).

Early Years

In a maintained nursery school setting there must be a qualified teacher designated as the SENCo in order to ensure the detailed implementation of support for children with SEN. This individual should also have the prescribed qualification for SEN Co-ordination or relevant experience.

In Private, Voluntary and Independent (PVI) settings the EYFS framework requires there to be arrangements in place for meeting children's SEN and PVI settings are expected to identify a SENCo.

Childminders are encouraged to identify a person to act as SENCo and childminders who are registered with a childminder agency or who are part of a network may wish to share that role between them.

The role of the SENCo in Early Years provision involves:

- ensuring all practitioners in the setting understand their responsibilities to children with SEN and the setting's approach to identifying and meeting SEN;
- advising and supporting colleagues;
- ensuring parents are closely involved throughout and that their insights inform action taken by the setting;
- liaising with professionals or agencies beyond the setting.

In Early Years Settings in Norfolk it is recommended that the SENCO attends the three-day SENCO training.

Schools

'In schools the SENCO must be a qualified teacher working at the school...It may be appropriate for a number of smaller Primary schools to share a SENCO employed to work across the individual schools...' (SENDCoP, 2015; pp108-109)

The key responsibilities of the SENCO in schools may include:

- overseeing the day-to-day operation of the school's SEN policy
- co-ordinating provision for children with SEN
- liaising with the relevant Designated Teacher where a looked after pupil has SEN
- advising on the graduated approach to providing SEN support
- advising on the deployment of the school's delegated budget and other resources to meet pupils' needs effectively
- liaising with parents of pupils with SEN
- liaising with early years providers, other schools, educational psychologists, health and social care professionals, and independent or voluntary bodies;
- being a key point of contact with external agencies, especially the local authority and its support services
- liaising with potential next providers of education to ensure a pupil and their parents are informed about options and a smooth transition is planned;
- working with the headteacher and school governors to ensure that the school meets its responsibilities under the Equality Act (2010) with regard to reasonable adjustments and access arrangements;
- ensuring that the school keeps the records of all pupils with SEN up to date
(SENDCoP, 2015; pp108-109)

Special Educational Needs Coordinator's (SENCo) Responsibilities continued...

'A newly appointed SENCO must be a qualified teacher and, where they have not previously been the SENCO at that or any other relevant school for a total period of more than twelve months, they must achieve a National Award in Special Educational Needs Co-ordination within three years of appointment. A national award must be a postgraduate course accredited by a recognised higher education (HE) provider.'

(SENDCoP 2015, p.108, point 6.85)

SENCOs have an important role to play with the headteacher and governing body, in determining the strategic development of SEN policy and provision in the school. They will be most effective in that role if they are part of the school leadership team. They have a day-to-day responsibility for the operation of SEN policy and co-ordination of specific provision made to support individual pupils with SEN, including those who have EHC plans. They provide professional guidance to colleagues and will work closely with staff, parents and other agencies. They should be aware of the provision in the Local Offer and be able to work with professionals providing a support role to families to ensure that pupils with SEN receive appropriate support and high-quality teaching.

SENCOs should be given sufficient time and resources to carry out the aforementioned functions. This should include providing the SENCO with sufficient administrative support and time away from teaching to enable them to fulfil their responsibilities in a similar way to other important strategic roles within a school.

Post-16 Providers

Post-16 Providers should ensure that there is a named person in the College with oversight of SEN provision to ensure coordination of support, similar to the role of the SENCO in schools. This person should contribute to the strategic and operational management of the College. Curriculum and support staff in the college should know who to go to if they need help in identifying a student's SEN, are concerned about their progress or need further advice. A Teacher's Responsibilities

Teachers

Teachers are expected to:

- make the education of their pupils their first concern;
- be accountable for achieving the highest possible standards in work and conduct;
- Act with honesty and integrity;
- have strong subject knowledge, keep their knowledge and skills as teachers up-to-date and are self-critical;
- forge positive professional relationships;
- work with parents in the best interests of their pupils.

(Teachers' Standards 2011 (updated 2013))

A Teacher must:

- know when and how to differentiate appropriately, using approaches which enable pupils to be taught effectively;
- have a secure understanding of how a range of factors can inhibit pupils' ability to learn, and how best to overcome these;
- demonstrate an awareness of the physical, social and intellectual development of children, and know how to adapt teaching to support pupils' education at different stages of development;
- have a clear understanding of the needs of all pupils, including those with special educational needs; those of high ability; those with English as an additional language; those with disabilities;
- be able to use and evaluate distinctive teaching approaches to engage and support them.

(The Teachers' Standards 2011 (updated 2013) Section 5)

Provision Expected at SEN Support

Therefore, Norfolk County Council expects teachers to:

- Be responsible and accountable for the progress and development of the pupils in their class, including where pupils access support from teaching assistants or specialist staff.

High quality teaching, differentiated for individual pupils, is the first step in responding to pupils who have or may have SEN. Additional intervention and support cannot compensate for a lack of good quality teaching.

In deciding whether to make special educational provision, the teacher and SENCO should consider all the information gathered about the pupil's progress. This information gathering should include an early discussion with the pupil and their parents.

These early discussions with parents should be structured in such a way that they develop a good understanding of the pupil's areas of strength and difficulty, the parents' concerns, the agreed outcomes sought for the child and the next steps.

Consideration of whether special educational provision is required should start with the desired outcomes, including the expected progress and attainment and the views and wishes of the pupil and their parents. This should then help determine the support that is needed and whether it can be provided by adapting the setting's core offer or whether something different or additional is required

A Teaching Assistant's Responsibilities

Teaching Assistants (TAs)

The expectation is that TAs must be aware of the TA Standards including the teaching and learning standards.

Teaching assistants are expected to:

- Promote, support and facilitate inclusion by encouraging participation of all pupils in learning and extracurricular activities.

(TA Standards, June 2016)

TAs should also be aware of the seven key recommendations within the 'Making Best Use of Teaching Assistants Guidance Report':

Recommendations on the use of TAs in everyday classroom contexts:

- TAs should not be used as an informal teaching resource for low attaining pupils
- Use TAs to add value to what teachers do, not replace them
- Use TAs to help pupils develop independent learning skills and manage their own learning
- Ensure TAs are fully prepared for their role in the classroom

Recommendations on the use of TAs in delivering structured interventions out of class:

- Use TAs to deliver high quality 1:1 and small group support using structured interventions
- Adopt evidence-based interventions to support TAs in their small group and 1:1 instruction

Recommendations on linking learning from work led by teachers and TAs:

- Ensure explicit connections are made between learning from everyday classroom teaching and structured interventions

Inclusive Settings need to ensure

- there is a shared vision and ethos of inclusivity that is evident throughout the setting;
- setting leaders are committed to inclusion and do everything within their power to include all learners as part of the setting community;
- all learners are included and can access the environment as independently as possible;
- there are equal opportunities for all learners;
- all staff are well trained and receive continued professional development so that they are confident to support all learners appropriately;
- there are effective partnerships with learners and parents which is evident through their participation in assessment and review processes;
- learners are involved in the Graduated Approach; assess, plan, do, review process, setting and reviewing targets and identifying their own learning strategies;
- learners are helped to understand their own barriers to learning and to value their achievements, this leads to increased confidence and improved participation;
- parents are confident that the setting's provision is meeting their child's needs;
- pastoral support is available for learners who require it and includes effective strategies to promote well-being;
- staff are aware of the additional needs of their learners, understand the nature and impact of these and how to respond to them;
- staff differentiate to provide suitable learning challenges and cater for different learning styles;
- learners have access to provision and resources to meet their needs and overcome barriers to learning, including the use of relevant support agencies/services available under the Local Offer;
- learners make good progress from their individual starting points as a result of appropriate allocation and use of resources;
- learner's progress leads to better life outcomes;
- learners are supportive of each other, and the result is better relationships and improved outcomes;
- learners are confident to take risks in their learning further leading to better progress;
- staff know when to refer to relevant outside agencies/services to access advice and support;
- learners are supported in all aspects of their development leading to greater inclusion and participation;
- procedures are in place for ensuring smooth transitions;
- learners are prepared well for the future which results in them progressing on to opportunities that lead to better chances in: work, living, health, friendships and relationships;
- access arrangements are in place for examinations and national tests.

When Things Are Not Working

In the first instance, Norfolk County Council expects parents to follow their child/young person's educational settings' complaints policy and procedure.

This usually involves initially contacting your child/young person's teacher or tutor. If you are not satisfied you may then wish to contact the SENCO/Inclusion Manager of the setting. If you continue to be concerned, you could escalate your concern to the Headteacher/Principal. Ultimately, you may choose to make an official complaint to the settings Governors/Trustees. This process should be clearly set out in the settings Complaints Policy and Procedure which should be readily available on their website.

Support for parents/carers

If you would like support attending meetings at a setting or want advice about how to approach your child's setting with questions or concerns, there are organisations that can help:
