If a satisfactory conclusion is not reached then families will be directed to the Ombudsman as outlined in the complaints information.

There may also be times when NHS organisations and the Local Authority dispute who has responsibility for meeting the identified care needs of a child/young person.

KIDS also offer a mediation service to the Local Authority and CCGs where they are in disagreement regarding responsibility and service provision. In this case they will coordinate a meeting between the agencies and CCGs to help resolve these type of disagreements which do not usually involve the family.

Unhappy with a decision?

If you are unhappy with a decision about your child or young person’s level of support from the Continuing Care Service across Norfolk and Waveney then a fully impartial mediation service is available.

A continuing care package is provided when a child or young person (up to their 18th birthday) has needs arising from disability, accident or illness that cannot be met by existing universal or specialist health services alone.

This is assessed by using the Department of Health (DOH) National Framework for Children and Young people’s Continuing Care, 2016. (www.gov.uk/government/publications/children-young-peoples-continuing-care-national-framework)

In Norfolk a panel of clinicians consider the health needs of each child and make recommendations on whether they are eligible for Continuing Care. Each individual Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) will decide whether to accept these recommendations.

Parents, carers and young people are informed of the decision made by the Norfolk panel and their CCG. This will be by telephone and/or face to face meeting with identified lead clinician followed up in writing with a formal letter. They will also be informed of the options open for appealing the decision, either through the complaints system or by accessing the formal independent mediation service provided by KIDS. KIDS, are a national charity working with children and young people with special educational needs and disabilities.”

There may be times when parents, carers and young people are not happy with the decision and level of support offered and provided.

Resolving disagreements

All available possibilities should be explored to resolve any disagreements. If however all avenues have been exhausted and there is still no agreement, then there are two options open to families and carers:

- Mediation through KIDS impartial Mediation Services.
- NHS Complaints process through local CCG Patient advice and Liaison Service (PALS) or complaints team
