

Marriott's Way Public Information Notice

Diversion route from 27 September—14 December 2021

The scheme is being carried out in phases to help minimise disruption with the ash die back tree felling happening until 15 October and resurfacing works starting 18 October. The tree work is happening along the whole route section by section with a flexible closure covering the area where works are being carried out on the day so it is still possible to access the Marriott's Way up to the section where the tree works are taking place. The public will have to divert off the Marriott's Way where they encounter the safety barriers closing the area where works are taking place.

When the surfacing works start from 18 October the public will not be able to access the Marriott's Way as there will be heavy construction machinery moving up and down the path. It is expected that the Costessey diversion will only need to be in place until w/c 01 November as the contractor is expected to have passed the track leading to St Edmunds Close at which point the diversion will be amended to allow access from Costessey Lane along Marriott's Way up to St Edmunds Close track to link onto the remaining section of the advertised diversion route (in blue).
