1.1.1 Table 1.1 to 1.3 summarise the applicable legislation, policy and guidance to Chapter 7: Noise and Vibration.

Table 1.1: Summary of Legislation

Legislation	Summary	Chapter Reference
The Control of Pollution Act 1974 (CoPA) (Ref 7A.1)	The CoPA enables Local Authorities to implement measures to control the noise from construction sites and prevent the occurrence of disturbance to surrounding residents (section 60 - Control of noise on construction sites). Furthermore, section 61 (Prior consent for work on construction sites) provides a method by which a contractor can seek consent to undertake construction works in advance of their commencement.	Chapter 7: Noise and Vibration conforms with the act by promoting the control of noise and vibration mitigation. See Section 7.8.
The Environment Protection Act 1990 (as amended) (EPA) (Ref 7A.2)	Section 79 of the EPA (Statutory nuisances and inspections), contains a definition of what constitutes a 'statutory nuisance' with regard to noise and places a duty on Local Authorities to detect any such nuisances within their area. Section 79 also considers 'best practicable means' with reference to mitigation measures, which is defined as steps "reasonably practical having regard, among other things, to local conditions and circumstances, to the current state of technical knowledge and to the financial implications".	Chapter 7: Noise and Vibration conforms with the act by giving context and identifying measures for the effective management and mitigation of noise and vibration. See Section 7.8.

Legislation	Summary	Chapter Reference
Noise Insulation Regulations 1975 (as amended 1988) (NIR) (Ref 7A.3)	The NIR were made under powers inferred by Section 20 of Part II of the Land Compensation Act 1973 (LCA). Regulation 3 of the NIR imposes a duty upon the overseeing Highways Authority to undertake or make a grant in respect of the cost of undertaking noise insulation works for dwellings and other places used for residential purposes near a new road or an additional carriageway. To qualify, four criteria must all be fulfilled at 1m in front of the most exposed door or window of an eligible room in the façade of a property: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Level - The highest total traffic noise level expected within the first fifteen years use of the road (the 'Relevant Noise Level') must be predicted to be not less than the Specified Level of 68 dB(A) $L_{A10,18h}$. Predicted noise levels of 67.5 dB $L_{A10,18h}$ and above are rounded up to 68 dB $L_{A10,18h}$; - Increase - The Relevant Noise Level in the design year, or within any other year between the year before the highway construction works commenced and the design year, must be at least 1 dB(A) greater than that immediately before construction commenced (the 'Prevailing Noise Level'); - Contribution - Noise from traffic on the road for which 	Chapter 7: Noise and Vibration provides an indicative count of dwellings that may be eligible for noise insulation. See Section 7.8.

	the Regulations apply must contribute at least 1.0 dB LA10,18h to the Relevant Noise Level; and <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Locality - The property under consideration must be within 300m of the Scheme. The Regulations apply only to qualifying eligible rooms, which include living rooms and bedrooms affected by road traffic noise.
Environmental Noise (England) Regulations 2006 (S.I. 2006/2238) (Ref 7A.4)	Defra has prepared action plans for major roads following strategic noise mapping. The Environmental Noise (England) Regulations (Statutory Instruments 2006/2238, Regulation 15(1)(e) require that action plans should "...apply in particular to the most important areas as established by strategic noise maps...", and to this end Defra has identified noise important areas (NIAs or noise "hot-spots") that are where 1% of the population are affected by the highest noise levels from major roads according to the results of the strategic noise mapping. This approach has been taken because people residing in these areas are likely to be at the greatest risk of experiencing a significant adverse effect to health and quality of life because of their exposure to road traffic noise.	Chapter 7: Noise and Vibration identifies the noise level change and significant effects at dwellings within Noise Important Areas inside the operational noise study area. See Section 7.8.
Directive 2002/49/EC of the European Parliament – Assessment and	This is the main EU instrument to identify noise pollution levels and to trigger the necessary action both at Member State	Chapter 7: Noise and Vibration identifies the noise level change and the

management of environmental noise (better known as the Environmental Noise Directive - END) (Ref 7A.5)	and at EU level. To pursue its stated aims, the END focuses on three action areas: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The determination of exposure to environmental noise; Ensuring that information on environmental noise and its effects is made available to the public; Preventing and reducing environmental noise where necessary and preserving environmental noise quality where it is good. It is through the requirements of this Directive that the locations of NIAs have been determined.	significant effects at dwellings within Noise Important Areas inside the operational noise study area. See Section 7.8.

Policy	Summary	Chapter Reference
National Policy Statement for National Networks 2014 (NN NPS) (Ref 7A.6)	Published by the Department for Transport, the NN NPS was designated for use by the Secretary of State in January 2015. It provides planning guidance for promoters of nationally significant infrastructure projects on the road and rail networks. Paragraph 5.189 of the NN NPS states where a development is subject to EIA and significant noise effects are likely to arise from the Scheme, the applicant should include a noise assessment which details the noise and vibration baseline, sensitive receptors, predictions of changes in baseline with the Scheme and mitigation measures.	Chapter 7: Noise and Vibration conforms with the NN NPS by promoting the management of noise and vibration impacts through effective mitigation. All road traffic noise predictions have been completed in accordance with the calculation methodology presented in CRTN (1988) and Annex 4

Policy	Summary	Chapter Reference
	For operational noise, paragraph 5.191 states that effects on human receptors 'should be assessed using the principles of the relevant British Standards and other guidance' and that 'prediction of road traffic noise should be based on the method described in the Calculation of Road Traffic Noise' (1988). For the prediction and assessment of construction noise, it is stated that 'reference should be made to any relevant British Standards and other guidance which also give examples of mitigation strategies'. The NN NPS goes on to state in paragraph 5.193 that developments must be undertaken in accordance with the statutory requirements for noise and that due regard must be given to the relevant sections of the NPSE and the NPPF. Paragraph 5.195 states that the "Secretary of State should not grant development consent unless satisfied that the proposals will meet the following aims, within the context of Government policy on sustainable development: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ avoid significant adverse impacts on health and quality of life from noise as a result of the new development; ▪ mitigate and minimise other adverse impacts on health and quality of life from noise from the new development; and ▪ contribute to improvements to health and quality of life through 	of DMRB HD 213/11. See Section 7.8.

	the effective management and control of noise, where possible”. The NN NPS also confirms that for most national network projects, the relevant Noise Insulation Regulations would apply.
National Policy Statement for Ports 2012 (PNPS) (Ref 7A.7)	The PNPS sets out the Government’s strategy for new port infrastructure to meet current and future needs. It determines the approach planning decision-makers should take with respect to ports and port infrastructure proposals. The PNPS requires an applicant to assess the noise generating aspects of a development on the marine and terrestrial environment including noise sensitive areas and noise sensitive species which has been informed by the existing marine and terrestrial noise environment. These assessments should then identify any measures that are included to mitigate the effects of noise.	Chapter 7: Noise and Vibration conforms with the PNPS by promoting the management of noise and vibration impacts through effective mitigation. Effects on ecological receptors are considered in Chapter 8: Nature Conservation.
Noise Policy Statement for England 2010 (NPSE) (Ref 7A.8)	The NPSE was published in March 2010 by the Department for Environment Food and Rural Affairs (Defra) and is the overarching statement of noise policy for England. It applies to all forms of noise other than occupational noise, with paragraph 1.6 setting out the long-term vision of Government noise policy which is to “promote good health and a good quality of life through the effective management of noise within the context of Government policy on sustainable development”. The Explanatory Note to the NPSE introduces three concepts for use in the assessment of noise in England:	Chapter 7: Noise and Vibration conforms with the NPSE through the consideration of health effects through the adoption of NOEL, LOAEL and SOAEL. The primary source for defining significance is the NPSE in conjunction with DMRB HD 213/11. See Section 7.4.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> · NOEL - No Observed Effect Level - This is the level below which no effect can be detected and below which there is no detectable effect on health and quality of life due to noise. · LOAEL - Lowest Observable Adverse Effect Level - This is the level above which adverse effects on health and quality of life can be detected. · SOAEL - Significant Observed Adverse Effect Level - This is the level above which significant adverse effects on health and quality of life occur. None of these three levels are defined numerically in the NPSE. For the SOAEL, the NPSE makes it clear that the noise effect level is likely to vary depending upon the noise source, the receptor, and the time of day and day of the week. The need for more research to investigate what may represent a SOAEL for noise is acknowledged, and the NPSE asserts that not stating specific SOAEL values provides policy flexibility in the period until further evidence and guidance is published. This chapter sets out the approach to defining the NOEL, LOAEL and SOAEL for this Scheme in line with current best practice and guidance.
National Planning Policy Framework 2018 (NPPF) (Ref 7A.9)	The NPPF sets out the following generic guidance relating to noise, which supports the long-term vision of the NPSE. Under section 15 Conserving and enhancing the natural environment, paragraph 170, it is stated that “Planning policies and decisions	Chapter 7: Noise and Vibration conforms with the NPPF by identifying the likely noise and vibration effects at sensitive receptors that occur during the construction and

Policy	Summary	Chapter Reference
	should contribute to and enhance the natural and local environment by: e) preventing new and existing development from contributing to, being put at unacceptable risk from, or being adversely affected by, unacceptable levels of soil, air, water or noise pollution or land instability. Development should, wherever possible, help to improve local environmental conditions such as air and water quality, taking into account relevant information such as river basin management plans” Under section 15, paragraph 180, it is stated that “Planning policies and decisions should also ensure that new development is appropriate for its location taking into account the likely effects (including cumulative effects) of pollution on health, living conditions and the natural environment, as well as the potential sensitivity of the site or the wider area to impacts that could arise from the development. In doing so they should: a) mitigate and reduce to a minimum potential adverse impact resulting from noise from new development – and avoid noise giving rise to significant adverse impacts on health and the quality of life60; b) identify and protect tranquil areas which have remained relatively undisturbed by noise and are prized for their recreational and amenity value for this reason”	operation of the Scheme. Health effects are considered by the application of noise and vibration LOAEL and SOAEL. In addition, this chapter promotes the management of noise and vibration impacts through effective mitigation. See Section 7.8.

East Inshore and East Offshore Marine Plans (EIEOMP) (Ref 7A.10)	Marine Plans are implemented as a requirement of the Marine and Coastal Access Act 2009. The plans provide for the application or clarification of national planning policy in relation to coastal areas. Aspects of noise and the impact on people are addressed under Objective 6 as part of consideration of its effects on marine animals. Objective 6: “To have a healthy, resilient and adaptable marine ecosystem in the East marine plan areas.”	Chapter 7: Noise and Vibration conforms with the EIEOMP by promoting the management of noise and vibration impacts through effective mitigation. During construction works, the mitigation measures to control and reduce noise and vibration emissions to ecological receptors will be included within the Outline CoCP (document reference 6.16) will be followed. Mitigation measures will include the adoption of the measures set out in the JNCC (2010). Effects on ecological receptors are considered in Chapter 8: Nature Conservation.

Great Yarmouth Local Plan: Core Strategy 2013 – 2030 (Ref 7A.11)	Policy CS9 of the GYLP ‘Encouraging well-designed, distinctive places’ references noise as follows: “High quality, distinctive places are an essential part in attracting and retaining residents, businesses, visitors and developers. As such, the Council will ensure that all new developments within the borough: f) Seek to protect the amenity of existing and future residents, or people working in, or nearby, a proposed development, from factors such as noise, light and air pollution and ensure that new development does not unduly impact upon public safety.”	Chapter 7: Noise and Vibration conforms with the policy by promoting the management of noise and vibration impacts through effective mitigation. See Section 7.8.

Guidance	Summary	Chapter Reference
Calculation of Road Traffic Noise 1988 (CRTN) (Ref 7A.12)	The former Department of Transport/Welsh Office technical memorandum CRTN sets out a standardised method for the calculation of noise from road traffic. The factors which may influence road traffic noise levels can be divided into three groups: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> · Road related factors - gradient and surface type; · Traffic related factors - flow, speed and the proportion of heavy goods vehicles; and · Propagation factors – the distance between the road and the receptor location and either the type of ground cover between the road and receptor location or the 	The road traffic noise propagation calculations in Chapter 7: Noise and Vibration are completed in line with CRTN. Assumptions relating to the factors that affect the propagation of noise from the Scheme are set out in Section 7.8.
Design Manual for Roads and Bridges HD 213/11 2011 (DMRB HD 213/11) (Ref 7A.13)	The DMRB HD 213/11 sets out a methodology for assessing road traffic noise and vibration. Paragraph 4.2 of HD 213/11 states "in terms of permanent impacts, a change of 1 dB(A) in the short-term (e.g. when a project is opened) is the smallest that is considered perceptible. In the long-term, a 3 dB(A) change is considered perceptible. Such increases in noise should be mitigated if possible". The primary source for defining significance is DMRB HD 213/11 in conjunction with the NPSE.	The road traffic noise calculations and assessment methodology are completed in line with DMRB HD 213/11. See Section 7.4 for further details of how DMRB HD 213/11 has been applied to the assessment of traffic noise from the Scheme, and the method for defining significance.

1 Glossary of Acoustic Terminology

- 1.1.1 Noise is defined as unwanted sound. Human ears are able to respond to sound in the frequency range 20 Hz (deep bass) to 20,000 Hz (high treble) and over the audible range of 0 dB (the threshold of perception) to 140 dB (the threshold of pain). The ear does not respond equally to different frequencies of the same magnitude, but is more responsive to mid-frequencies than to lower or higher frequencies. To quantify noise in a manner that approximates the response of the human ear, a weighting mechanism is used. This reduces the importance of lower and higher frequencies, in a similar manner to the human ear.
- 1.1.2 Furthermore, the perception of noise may be determined by several factors, which may not necessarily be acoustic. In general, the impact of noise depends upon its level, the margin by which it exceeds the background level, its character and its variation over a given period. In some cases, the time of day and other acoustic features such as tonality or impulsiveness may be important, as may the disposition of the affected individual. Any assessment of noise should give due consideration to all factors when assessing the significance of a noise source.
- 1.1.3 The most widely used weighting mechanism that best corresponds to the response of the human ear is the 'A'-weighting scale. This is widely used for environmental noise measurement, and the levels are denoted as dB(A) or L_{Aeq} , L_{A90} etc., according to the parameter being measured.
- 1.1.4 The decibel scale is logarithmic rather than linear, and hence a 3 dB increase in sound level represents a doubling of the sound energy present. Judgement of sound is subjective, but as a general guide a 10 dB(A) increase can be taken to represent a doubling of loudness, whilst an increase in the order of 3 dB(A) is generally regarded as the minimum difference needed to perceive a change under normal listening conditions.
- 1.1.5 Table 1.1 and 1.2 set out the specific noise and vibration terminology used in Chapter 7: Noise and Vibration.

Table 1.1: Noise Terminology

Terminology	Description
Ambient sound level, LAeq,T	Equivalent continuous A-weighted sound pressure level of the totally encompassing sound in a given situation at a given time, usually from many sources near and far, at the assessment location over a given time interval, T. It is a measure of the combination of “residual sound” and the “specific sound” when present.
Annual Average Weekday Traffic (AAWT)	The average volume of vehicle traffic of a highway or road for a year, excluding weekends and bank holidays, and adjusted for seasonal variations.
A-weighting, dB(A)	The unit of sound level weighted according to the A-scale, which takes into account the increased sensitivity of the human ear at some frequencies.
Basic noise level (BNL)	The measure of road traffic sound at a reference distance of 10 m from the nearside carriageway edge. It is determined by obtaining the estimated sound level from the 18 hour flow and then applying corrections for vehicle speed, percentage of heavy vehicles, gradient and road surface as described in the Calculation of Road Traffic Noise (1988).
Calibration	The measurement system/ chain should be periodically calibrated, within a laboratory, against traceable calibration instrumentation, to either National Standards or as UKAS-Accredited, as required. The calibration of the system should also be checked in the field using a portable calibrator before and after each short term measurements, and periodically for longer term monitoring.
Class 1	The Class of a sound level meter describes its accuracy as defined by the relevant international standards – Class 1 is more accurate than Class 2. The older standard IEC 60651 referred to the grade as "Type", whereas the new standard IEC 61672 refers to it as the "Class". The most accurate meters used in the field (as opposed to a laboratory) are Class 1. Class 2 meters can be used in some instances; however, WSP use Class 1 (or Type 1) meters by default, as required by BS 4142:2014, for example.
Context	The circumstances that form the setting for an event, statement, or idea, and in terms of which it can be fully understood. When considering context, pertinent factors include: the absolute level of sound; the character and level of the residual sound compared to the character and level of the specific sound; evidence on human response to the sound; and the sensitivity of the receptor and whether dwellings or other premises used for residential purposes will already incorporate design measures that secure good internal and/or outdoor acoustic conditions.

Decibel (dB)	A scale for comparing the ratios of two quantities, including sound pressure and sound power. The difference in level between two sounds s_1 and s_2 is given by $20\text{Log}_{10}(s_1/s_2)$. The decibel can also be used to measure absolute quantities by specifying a reference value that fixes one point on the scale. For sound pressure, the reference value is $20 \mu\text{Pa}$.
Façade level	At a distance of 1m in front of a large sound reflecting object such as a building façade.
Fast/Slow Time Weighting	Averaging times used in sound level meters.
Free-Field	Far from the presence of sound reflecting objects (except the ground), usually taken to mean at least 3.5m.
L _{AF10,18h}	The L _{AF10,18h} level is the arithmetic mean of all the levels of L _{AF10} during the period from 06:00 to 24:00. From research, it has been found that subjective response to road traffic noise is closely linked to higher sound levels experienced and is correlated well with the L _{AF10,18h} index. Unless stated otherwise, it should be measured/ presented using the fast time-weighting (F).
L _{AF10,T}	The A-weighted sound pressure level exceeded for 10% of the time over the period, T, measured using fast time-weighting (F).
L _{AF90,T}	The A-weighted sound pressure level that is exceeded by the residual sound at the assessment location for 90% of a given time interval, T, measured using time fast time-weighting (F). Generally used to describe the 'background' sound conditions.
L _{AFmax}	The maximum A-weighted sound pressure level during a given time period. L _{max} is sometimes used for the assessment of occasional loud sounds, which may have little effect on the overall L_{eq} noise level, but could still affect the sound environment. Unless described otherwise, it is commonly measured using the fast time-weighting (F).

$L_{eq,T}$	A time-averaged sound level index called the equivalent continuous sound level over the time period T. This is the level of a notional steady sound that would contain the same amount of sound energy as the actual, possibly fluctuating, sound that was recorded. Where the value is A-weighted, it will be presented ' $L_{Aeq,T}$ ' or ' $dBA L_{eq,T}$ ', otherwise it should be an un-weighted (or linear) value.
Line source	A sound source composed of many point sources in a defined line, such as a train, flow of traffic on a motorway, or constant aircraft take-offs and landings. Sound levels measured from line sources decrease at a rate of 3 dB per doubling of distance.
$L_{night,outside}$	The $L_{night,outside}$ index is the equivalent continuous sound level $L_{Aeq,8h}$ for the period 23:00 to 07:00 hours assessed outside a dwelling and is free-field.
L_{night}	The L_{night} is a façade level derived from the $L_{AF10,18h}$ using the TRL conversion method.
Point source	A sound source whose dimensions are small compared to the propagation distances involved. Due to the Inverse Square Law, the sound level pressure level decreases by 6 dB every time the distance between the measurement point and the source is doubled.
Rating level, $L_{Ar,Tr}$	The equivalent continuous A-weighted sound pressure level ($L_{Aeq,T}$, see also Specific Sound Level) of the sound, plus any adjustment for the characteristic features of the sound.
Residual sound	Ambient sound remaining at the assessment location when the specific sound source is suppressed (or absent) to such a degree that it does not contribute to the ambient sound.
Sound level metrics, Indices or Parameters	Sound levels usually fluctuate over time, so it is often necessary to consider an average or statistical sound level. This can be done in several ways, so a number of different metrics have been defined, according to how the averaging or statistics are carried out.

Terminology	Description
Sound pressure level (sound level), L_p	The sound level is the sound pressure relative to a standard reference pressure of 20 Pa (20×10^{-6} Pascals) on a decibel scale.
Sound pressure	Sound, or sound pressure, is a fluctuation in air pressure around the static ambient pressure.
Soundscape	Acoustic environment as perceived or experienced and/or understood by a person or people, in context.
Specific sound level, $L_s = L_{Aeq,Tr}$	Equivalent continuous A-weighted sound pressure level produced by the specific sound source at the assessment location over a given reference time interval, T_r .
Specific sound source	Sound source being assessed.
Third-octave band	Octave bands sub-divided into three parts, equal to 23% of the centre frequency. Used when octave analysis is not discrete enough. The cut-off frequencies have a ratio of $2 \frac{1}{3}$, which is approximately 1.26. For example, a 1 kHz third-octave band filter has a centre frequency of 1000 Hz with lower and upper frequencies of 891 Hz and 1112 Hz respectively.

Table 1.2: Vibration Terminology

Terminology	Description
Displacement, velocity and acceleration	Vibration is an oscillatory motion. The magnitude of vibration can be defined in terms of displacement (how far from the equilibrium position that something moves), velocity (how fast something moves), or acceleration (the rate of change of velocity).
Amplification	A general term used to indicate the increase in noise or vibration, or the amount (in decibels) by which it is increased.
Transfer function	Transfer function of a vibrating system is the ratio of the output or response of the system to the input excitation, usually expressed as a complex function of frequency.
Vibration dose value (VDV)	This is a measure of the amount of vibration that is experienced over a specified period, and has been defined so as to quantify the human response to vibration in terms of comfort and annoyance. The Vibration Dose Value is used to assess the likely levels of adverse comment about vibration, and is defined mathematically as the fourth root of the time integral of the fourth power of the acceleration, after it has been frequency weighted to consider the frequency response of the human body to a vibration stimulus. Measured in units of $m \cdot s^{-1.75}$
Peak Particle Velocity (PPV)	PPV is the maximum speed (in a given direction) of oscillation about a point of equilibrium. PPV is measured in three dimensional planes.
Peak Vector Sum (PVS)	The PVS is the square root of the sum of the square of the PPV values in all three vector dimensions. The PVS is always greater than the individual PPV vector values.

1 Noise and Vibration Generating Construction Phases and Plant Items

1.1.1 Table 1.1 lists the key noise and vibration generating construction phases together with the equipment used during each phase. The combined noise level for each phase forms the basis of the construction noise assessment in Chapter 7: Noise and Vibration.

1.1.2 For each of the construction phases identified, the Contractor has provided the following information which is the basis of the construction noise and vibration assessment: working hours, duration of works, construction plant type and number, location of plant, on-times, methods of working and screening.
